Beyond the Door

Time Flows in a Tranquil Atmosphere.

Kochi Dining has been keeping a close eye on the evolution of food culture in the city. The young owner-chef, the expert cook who manages the restaurant, and the legendary bartender all of them have a passion for Kochi cuisine and local ingredients, and their attention to detail is not affected by the changing trends of the day.

Another Showa thing has faded away...

Inside the factory, though everyone has disappeared, I seemed to hear women breathing.

The factory's machines and tools, having played their part, still lie calmly here and there.

Raw silk used to be such a thriving industry.

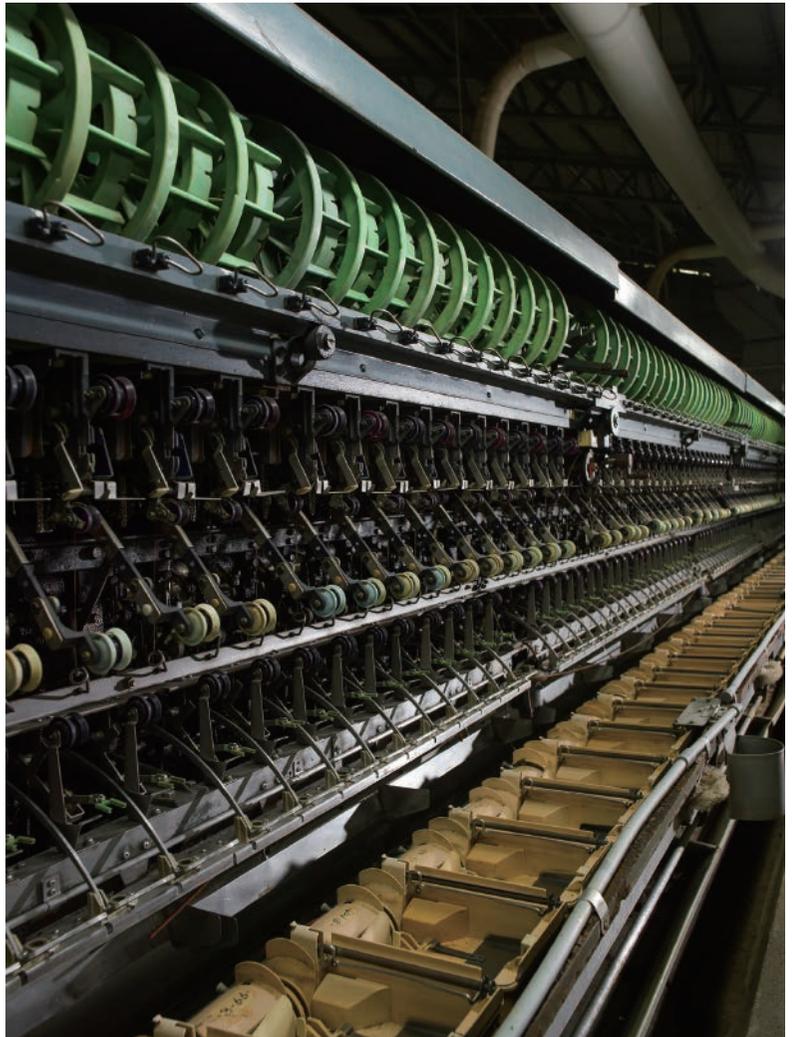

For the many years from 1917 to 2005,

Fujimura Silk Mill was a mainstay in the culture of silk.

It should be sad for me to stand by and see the end of the factory.

However, I had an exciting time taking photos.

Well done, and thanks a lot.
